A daring design suggestion, with a very intricate graphic and a gentle movement. This is the Canyon Collection, a sinuous stone, fluid and rich in nuances. It represents an evolution of the most classic of natural surfaces. The application of the digital material gives Canyon a unique appearance. Its starting point is a selection of sandstones, with their characteristic mixtures of silica, calcium carbonate and clay.

Destonified and full of fine details, this stone tile is presented in four shades that revolve around grey and beige of various intensities. It is accompanied by a mosaic-type decoration, that stands out due to its relief structure but with a continuous surface. This gives an effect of highlights and shadows with great potential for contemporary interior design.

Canyon transports us to giant bare rock scenes that take on multiple shades, especially at sunset. Unique landscapes such as those of the Colorado Great Canyon where sedimentary rocks paint the space with amazing colours. Or those of Monument Valley, between Utah and Arizona, where the river and wind have created an incredible spectacle to behold and where the rocks tell us about the various geological ages of the planet.

Propuesta de diseño atrevida, con una gráfica muy trabajada y con un suave movimiento. Así es la Colección Canyon, una piedra sinuosa, fluida y rica en matices, que supone una evolución de las superficies naturales más clásicas. La aplicación de la materia digital confiere a Canyon un aspecto único, que toma como punto de partida diferentes piedras areniscas con sus características mezclas de sílice, calcio, carbonato o arcilla.

Destonificada y profusa en finos detalles, esta piedra se presenta en cuatro tonalidades que giran en torno al gris y al beige con diferentes intensidades y se acompaña de un decorado tipo mosaico, que sobresale por su estructura de relieve, pero con superficie continua, lo que provoca un efecto de luces y sombras con gran potencial para el interiorismo contemporáneo.

Canyon nos transporta a gigantes escenarios de roca desnuda que adopta múltiples tonalidades, especialmente con la puesta del sol. Paisajes únicos como son los del Gran Cañón del Colorado, donde las rocas sedimentadas pintan el espacio de asombrosos colores, o los del Monument Valley, entre Utah y Arizona, donde la lluvia y el viento han creado un increíble espectáculo para la vista y donde las rocas nos hablan de las diferentes etapas geológicas del planeta.
